STRIKE OF COAL MINERS ABOUT OVER

AGREEMENT IS ABOUT READY TO BE SIGNED BY THE UNIONS

Is the Tale Told By Leaders of the Striking Miners In the State of Illinois, Which Is the Key To Unionized Soft Coal Fields, and Which Rules the Entire Bituminous Coal Region of the Country.

Despite statements by spokesmen for miners and operators to the contrary, reports persisted Tuesday that an end to the five months' suspension of coal operations in Illinois was near.

Wednesday miners and operators met in Chicago in the second joint conference since the union workers of the bituminous industry quit after having failed to make a new contract. "There is nothing new to the situation," said Rice Miller, president of the operators. "There has been no settlement."

Miller's denial was in reply to a story in the Chicago Daily Journal which, quoting an "authoritative source," said:

"Illinois coal operators and miners are certain that a conference which begins Wednesday will result in an agreement and an early resumption of work, probably not later than September 15."

From Hillsboro, Illinois, it was reported that two mines, owned by Miller, were being cleared up and that was taken as an indication that he expected a resumption of operations.

John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, denied that settlement had been reached. He said he would attend the meeting.

No one has been approached about a settlement, remarked J. L. Good, secretary of the Ohio Coal bureau and spokesman for the operators of that state.

"Ohio operators intend to go on with their plan to open their mines on the 1917 wage scale, employing such union or nonunion labor as may be available," continued Good.

Illinois operators have held persistently they cannot reopen their mines and pay the Jacksonville wage scale because of competition from Kentucky, West Virginia and Tennessee nonunion mines. The miners are bound by their last convention not to agree to wages below those of the last three years—the period of the Jacksonville agreement.

Illinois is the largest producing unit of the unionized soft coal fields. Hearing of the application of three Belmont county coal companies to make permanent an injunction restraining union miners from picketing their properties was adjourned in federal court late Tuesday and was resumed Wednesday.

Officers of subdistrict No. 6, United Mine Workers and officials of the coal companies involved, occupied the witness stand Tuesday at the opening of the hearing before Judge Benson W. Hough.

Indications are that the case will be concluded and that the court either will announce decision or take the matter under advisement.

John Cinque, executive of Subdistrict No. 6, testified that in picketing mines which employ nonunion labor the miners organization attempts only a method of peaceful persuasion to win the nonunion men over to their cause.

Coal company representatives who were called to the stand to support the assertion of plaintiffs that disorders had interfered with mining operations were Sharp Hathaway, superintendent of the Florence mine, Martins Ferry, and R. L. Ireland, general manager of the Rose mine Boomer Coal company. They described the alleged blocking of roads by union miners to prevent nonunion workers reaching the mines where they were employed.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION. The thirty-seventh annual convention of the Pickaway county Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held Friday, September 16, in the M. E. church, Circleville.

The morning session will open at 10 o'clock.

A county executive meeting will be held at 1 o'clock and the afternoon session will open at 1:45.

Mrs. H. D. Van Kirk, corresponding secretary of the Ohio W. C. T. U., will be the speaker.

This meeting is open to the public and all members of the organization are especially urged to attend.

THE PICKAWAY YOUNG FOLKS TAKE PRIZES

Club Work is Much in Evidence at State Fair—Mary Elizabeth Rader Wins.

MISS HARRISON DEAD.

Miss Hattie Binnie Harrison, employee of the Z. L. White Co., 16 years died Sunday night in the home of her cousin, Mrs. Mary Teegardin, 698 South Remington road, Columbus. Her health had been failing for the past four years.

Miss Harrison was 54 years of age. She had been reared by her aunt, Mrs. William Woodard, her mother having died when she was a year old. The aunt, who is now 83 years of age and Miss Harrison made their home with Mrs. Teegardin, daughter of Mrs. Woodard. Miss Harrison was a saleswoman in the drapery department of the Z. L. White store until 1923 because of her illness she was compelled to give up her duties.

The deceased formerly was a member of the South Congregational church. One brother, Charles M. Harrison, of Toledo, also survives.

Funeral services at the Remington road residence Wednesday. Interment in Fernwood cemetery at Lockbourne.

The deceased was a first cousin of Mrs. Nannie G. Hamilton, of this city.

TUBERCULOSIS CAUSES DEATH OF MRS. RUTTER

Was Born in Gallipolis 63
Years Ago--Funeral
Thursday Afternoon.

Mrs. Priscilla Ann Rutter died at her home, 369 East Corwin street, at noon Tuesday. She had been ill for seven years and her death was due to tuberculosis.

The deceased was born in Gallipolis and was 63 years of age. She had been a resident of this city for twenty years. She was the widow of Dennis Rutter.

Three daughters survive. They are Mrs. Fannie Moss, Mrs. Ida Moss and Mrs. Rady Barnes, of Whisler; also two half sisters and three half brothers.

Funeral services Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at her late home, Rev. Mr. Carpenter officiating. Interment in Forest cemetery.

UNDERWENT OPERATION.

Miss Mary Wilkinson was removed from Mercy hospital, Columbus, to her home near Grove City. She underwent a surgical operation for the removal of a toxic butterfly goiter. The operation was performed by Dr. J. A. Reibel, Columbus and was assisted by Dr. J. C. Sommers, of Grove City.

PHONE CALLS TO HIS WIFE IS UNDOING

One of Three Men Who Broke
Out of Franklin County Jail is Recaptured.

Agosta Perez, Mexican, Oakley avenue, Columbus, one of the three prisoners who sawed their way out of the Franklin county jail shortly after 5 a. m., Tuesday, was captured about 9 p. m., at Third and Town streets.

The two other men, Owen Lowrey, colored, serving six month sentence, on a contributing to delinquency charge and Edward Holmes, Ironton imprisoned on a failure to provide charge, are still at large. Perez had been awaiting grand jury action on grand burglary and grand larceny counts.

A telephone message to his wife for money proved his undoing. The message was intercepted by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Paul. Perez told his wife to meet him at Town and Third streets, and when he appeared he was arrested by Sheriff Gump and Chief Deputy Sheriff Harry Paul.

"Tips" on whereabouts of the other two escaped prisoners kept the sheriff and his deputies busy Tuesday night.

Perez, Sheriff Gump said, was the ringleader of the trio which has been working as kitchen helpers in the east basement, where the escape occurred. They sawed a bar in a window and then used a plank to scale a 12-foot wall on the east side of the jail.

The sheriff said he believed the saw used by the men was smuggled into the jail.

This is the first escape from the jail since April, 1925, when a prisoner sawed his way out and later was captured by Deputy Sheriff Harry Paul in West Popular street.

FINED $25.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. West, of Columbus, were placed under arrest Monday by Constable J. S. Hoover, of Harrison township. They were taken before Justice Frank Hudson and Mr. West was given a fine of $25 for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He was brought to this city and was placed in the county jail.

The Difference in Babies

POLITICS TO BE DISCUSSED IN FROG CITY

Attorney General Turner and Congressman Davey the Speakers at Toledo.

Columbus, September (Special)—Toledo will draw the attention of political followers of both the Republican and Democratic parties during the week.

On Thursday the unusual will happen at the banquet to be given by The Association of County Treasurers of the state, at the Commodore Perry hotel.

Edward C. Turner, attorney general, recognized as a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination on the Republican ticket and Congressman Martin L. Davey of the 14th Ohio district, who is regarded as seeking a similar honor as the Democratic nominee, will both speak.

While not in the nature of a joint debate the policies and platforms of the two parties will necessarily be brought into the talks and an opportunity furnished to study the personalities and fitness of these opposing candidates.

It would be surprising if both took the occasion as a fitting one to announce their candidacies but in any event each will be looked upon as opposing candidates for the chief executiveship of the state.

One thing is certain. The sparks will fly from the political anvil.

Attorney General Turner is certain to continue his attack upon the Anti-Saloon League and the public utilities of Ohio and further pursue his argument that these two interests are the dominant factor in shaping the legislative policy of Ohio. He is preparing his speech with that in mind and securing the necessary data to sustain his arguments.

Congressman Davey will devote himself more to a discussion of the attitude of the Democratic party on state and national affairs, treating the subject of conservation, in which he is recognized as the leading exponent in the country, in a liberal way.

The banquet is looked forward to with interest and the leaders of the parties are expecting that out of the meeting of the men will come a more definite understanding as to the outcome of the primaries in August of next year.

It will be a banquet worth going a long distance to attend—George U. Marvin.

CHURCH CENTENNIAL.

The Scioto Presbyterian church at Commercial Point celebrates its centennial next Sunday. The speaker for the evening service will be the Rev. E. S. Toensmeier of the Circleville church. There will be no evening service in the local church. The members are requested to attend the service at Commercial Point. Messrs. Celler, Stevenson and Clapp have been appointed a committee on transportation. Those having no cars are asked to report to this committee, also any wishing to attend. The quartet from the local church will sing several numbers.

WILL BUILD OVERHEAD

The Chesapeake & Hocking railroad company has made a settlement with E. F. Umstead, Boggs and Blosser, landowners on the county line in reference to an overhead crossing. The bill which has to be made, will come up to within a few feet of the Umstead home.

NEW METHOD OF ATTACK

Upon Problem of Lost and Damaged Freight To Be Launched By Eastern and Southeastern Railroads and Steamship Lines.

A new method of attack upon the problem of lost and damaged freight will be launched by Eastern and Southeastern railroads and steamship lines, at a meeting to be held at the Cavalier Hotel, Virginia Beach, Va., September 8, according to information by The Circleville Herald. Representatives of 85 railroads, including the Norfolk & Western Railway, will be present for the purpose of carrying this new campaign into their respective territories. The meeting will last for but one day and will climax a three-day series of conferences of railroad claim officers.

The new method of attack on this problem, which is costing the public and the railroads millions annually, centers about an attempt to interest railroad superintendents in measures to correct the principal causes for damaged or lost freight. It will be launched by inviting one superintendent from each railroad in Eastern and Southeastern territory to participate in the discussion of two subjects—"Carload Damage" and "Lost Freight." Through the interest of the superintendents participating in the conference, it is hoped that all superintendents and the hundreds of thousands of railway employees having to do with the handling of freight in the territory involved, will redouble their efforts to stop this economic waste.

The series of meetings, of which this joint conference will be the climax, began Sept. 5 when the twelve members of the National Claim Prevention Committee of the Freight Claim Division of the American Railway Association began a two-day discussion of claim prevention problems in the United States and Canada.

On September 7 the Southeastern Claim Conference, the Virginia Claim Conference and the Eastern Claim Conference will hold separate sessions for the discussion of claim problems relating to the three territories involved.

On September 8 a joint meeting of the three claim conferences, the National Claim Prevention Committee and the executive officials of the Freight Claim Division, together with representatives of the operating department of the 105 railroads and steamship lines which are members of the three conferences, will be held. Representatives of the U. S. Department of Commerce and officers of the Railway Accounting Officers' Association will also address this meeting.

AUBURN CAR SHOWS

UP WELL IN TEST.

A speed and endurance test recently finished by Auburn on the Atlantic City speedway, which took 10 days and nights of continuous driving showed that the stock car, under the official sanction and observation of the American Automobile association delivered 15,000 miles in less than 15,000 minutes with nine drivers working in relays, driving three Auburns for a total of 42,000 miles, shattering 37 existing stock car records and making 34 new records.

First, the three stock cars broke all records from 5 to 5,000 miles. Then another 5,000 miles established new American stock car records for 10,000 miles at better than a mile a minute. And then the 5,000 miles more to satisfy everyone concerned, with Auburn's endurance under high speed beyond all established precedents. Two roadsters and a sedan were used. The sedan, after 2,000 miles of record breaking, had an accident. Seven hours later the body repairs were made and without a mechanical change, it finished its 15,000 miles at an average speed of over 62 miles per hour. With the loss of its fenders, this car lost its status after 2,637 miles, but nevertheless was officially timed by American Automobile association representatives.

Enjoy Your Home --- All of It ---

This winter many families will LIVE ALL OVER THEIR HOMES---using all the rooms, enjoying the comforts of ALL of their furniture, for they will use the modern Cabinet Heaters.

Others will live in one or two rooms, close up the balance of the house for the winter, all on account of the inefficiency of the old type of heating stove. They will hover around the old stove in an effort to keep warm, while the other folks will be enjoying themselves all over their homes, for the reason that they are using one of our circulating Heaters.

There is no "guess-work" any more about these new heaters doing the work for which they are intended. We have sold them for the past five years AND THEY DO WORK. Ask any of our users--we'll be glad to tell you who they are and where they live.

EUROPEAN LOTTERY SHOPS PLENTIFUL

In Europe nearly all the states not only permit lotteries, but almost every government runs some of them. Lottery shops in Italy are as plentiful as tobacco shops, and in Austria each tobacco shop, all part of the government monopoly, is also a lottery shop. Besides there are special places where lotteries are marketed, and their advertising is intense. Government loans nearly always have a drawing attached, partly as an advertising measure, mainly to appeal to that desire to invest one shilling and draw out a million.

AMMUNITION GIVEN DRY BY OFFICIAL

State Prohibition Chief is in Favor of Marshall Bill
--Makes Report.

State Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald supplied to the Anti-Saloon league ammunition for its campaign to retail the Marshall bill, restoring to justices of the peace their jurisdiction in liquor cases in his annual report to Governor Donahey by citing conditions which, he said, had been brought about because of the United States supreme court decision in the Tumey case.

While he referred to the Taft decision as a "righteous one," McDonald said it had militated against law enforcement generally. He also took occasion to assail "prominent newspapers of the state," which he said, were encouraging law violation.

"The Tumey decision has left all enforcement outside the larger municipalities virtually up to probate and common pleas courts," McDonald said. "some of these courts have said that if these cases were brought before them they would be heard in their order, which meant that the trial of an ordinary bootlegger might be delayed six months or a year."

Encouragement is charged. It is very evident to unprejudiced minds what condition of law enforcement will exist in a short time under such conditions. There are communities that will be left helpless where such conditions prevail.

"With the encouragement given to the bootleggers and other law breakers the propaganda that is being thrust upon the public by several prominent newspapers of the state, the condition to which I refer presents to the citizens interested in the enforcement of law a matter of serious consideration."

With the passage of the Etling law, which directs the payment of one half of the fines from liquor cases to the county and the other half to the state, partly cures the situation caused by the Taft decision in the Tumey case. The other ground decision remains to be cured, awaiting the outcome of the referendum on the Marshall bill, McDonald said.

"While the decision in the Tumey case has been accepted by dries as well as wets as correct in principle, it has left the state virtually without an inferior court with legal and constitutional right to enforce the law, and has not only resulted in greater defiance of law, but has resulted in loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars in fines to the state and its political subdivisions." The report states.

Improvement Is Cited. But, notwithstanding the conditions which he says exist, McDonald says he feels justified in saying "that the enforcement of prohibition generally is reasonably effective and that it has generally improved during his four and one half year's incumbency.

The wet propagandist, with whom the wish is the father to the thought, often proclaims conditions as worse than they ever were and that such and such a city is "wide open," said McDonald. "Neither of these statements is true." McDonald cites his own city of Newark as an example. Where ninety saloons flourished a few years ago and where it was common to see a half dozen or more "drunks" on the street, at a recent celebration in that city, which brought together 10,000 persons, not one drunken person was seen.

Other spots were touched upon by McDonald in his report. In Steubenville conditions have improved by reason of the removal of the former mayor, he said. If Jefferson county officials would apply the padlock proceeds to many places that are eligible it would be a great aid. The prosecuting attorney of Jefferson county was supplied with facts upon which to apply padlock proceedings as much as eighteen months ago, yet no action has been brought, he declared.

McDonald recommends use of the padlock proceedings for other counties that are annoyed by repeated violations.

Toledo, McDonald said, has become a strategic point for bootleggers, because of its nearness to Detroit, which he said had been appropriately dubbed the "wettest in the United States." But in spite of this, the cooperation of the police department and the federal official, we have been able to accomplish much good in that city.

Police of Cincinnati, Columbus and Cleveland still continue to cooperate heartily with this department," the commissioner says. Excellent cooperation from the federal prohibition commissioner was reported.

McDonald summarized activities of his department during the last year as follows: Inspections made, 4,708; arrests, 5,236; convictions, 3,535; fines assessed, $1,183,325; fines collected under the Crabbe act, $1,560,606.48; paid into state treasury, $780,303.24; transporters apprehended, 192; stills taken, 538; samples analyzed, 45.

Amount expended by the department, $146,779.59; it was estimated there are 1,200 violators languishing in jail because of inability to pay their fines and 200 in the penitentiary or the reformatory for penal offenses.

Physical training means an increase of the efficiency with which the chemical and physical processes of life are carried on, reports Hygeia, health magazine published by the American Medical association.

Studies made recently showed that a trained man can perform a given amount of work with a smaller consumption of oxygen than an untrained man and with less demand on his heart. The trained man breathes more slowly and more deeply and his heart beats less frequently. As a result of systematic exercise, the subjects of the study felt better and were more alert, their appetites improved, muscles developed and capacity for physical work increased.

Saved by Rod and Line

Fishing from a little boat 100 feet off shore in the Little Manatee river, Ruskin, Fla., Daniel Holloway upset the boat in attempting to raise the anchor and struggled helplessly in the water. His son Horace, unable to swim, and with no other help near, made a cast with rod and line. The hooks of the bass lure caught in the clothing of the drowning man. His son drew him to shore and revived him.

Cornstalk Test Has Been TriedPractical Application of Method Reported by Purdue Specialist.

The new "cornstalk" test for determining plant food requirements of the soil is receiving a great amount of attention following the completion of an extensive survey in which the test was applied in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and other states. Announcement is made that the hundreds of tests thus made agree remarkably well with the results of field experiments in these states.

Apply Certain Chemicals.

The test is made during the latter part of the season by cutting open the stalk and applying certain chemicals to the tissues. Abundance or lack of nitrogen is indicated by one test, while the presence of excess iron in the joints, as shown by another chemical, indicates a deficiency of potassium.

The practical application of this method is well illustrated by the experience of R. F. Rauth of Warrick county, Indiana, as reported by Prof. C. T. Gregory of Purdue agricultural experiment station.

Three years ago Mr. Rauth was much discouraged with his corn crop, and had about decided that his clay soil was not fitted for corn. Yields were very low as were those of his neighbors on the same kind of land. Learning about the proposed new tests of Dr. G. N. Hoffer, at Purdue university, he sent stalks in to be tested and received the reply that the stunted condition indicated lack of potash and the iron in the joints showed serious need of potash.

Produced Better Corn.

In 1925 he used a 2-12-2 fertilizer and produced much better corn, but still it was not quite what he wanted. Stalks were again sent in and this time the reply was to use more potash in the fertilizer. In 1926 Rauth used two analyses, 0-10-10 on part of the field, and 2-12-6 on the rest of the field. The results showed that lack of potash, as well as of phosphoric acid, was causing his difficulty. He also found that his corn was free from root rot, indicating that this disease is due in large part to nutritional defects.

Superior Layers Made by Proper Attention

To insure good layers next fall, keep the young birds healthy and keep them growing, advises L. M. Black, assistant poultry specialist at the New Jersey College of Agriculture. Everlasting attention to every detail should be the rule of the range during the summer months.

"The growing birds must have a constant supply of fresh water and sufficient mash hopper space must be provided," says Mr. Black. "Mash is responsible for maximum growth and it should be always available. If the birds will not eat sufficient mash in the houses, place some sheltered hoppers on the range."

"Our two great disease troubles, coccidiosis and intestinal worm infections, can be controlled only through sanitation. Clean and disinfect the houses frequently. That flies are spreaders of tapeworm cannot be overlooked, and every effort should be made to discourage their presence on the range. Don't allow rubbish and manure piles to accumulate, for they furnish ideal breeding places for this pest. Treat the manure piles liberally with hydrated lime."

"Finally, attempt to adjust the mash and grain ration so that the pullets do not come into production too early. Aim to allow five months for the growing period of Leghorn pullets. Then, before they come into a heavy lay or when they are laying about 10 per cent on range, move them to the laying pens and endeavor to get them in prime condition by feeding scratch grain heavily. Rest assured that the care and pains taken will be repaid, and that a flock of well-grown, healthy pullets is not only a source of profit but also of deep satisfaction."

There Should Be Plenty Hopper Space for All

There should be enough hopper space to feed all the chicks at one time if they want to eat at the same table. They won't, but having the space means that the stronger chicks will not have opportunity to trample on the weaker chicks and make cowards and runts of them. It is better, but not always practical to keep the chicks of different ages separate. Home-made devices for giving the baby chicks the front row at the hoppers are varied and successful. Any system that keeps the droppings from the mash and gives the baby chicks a chance is good. Keep the mash hoppers filled. Alternate feast and famine plays the mischief with chicks.

Feed for Fattening

In Wisconsin and other northern states they oftentimes report that pound for pound ground barley is fully equal to corn for fattening hogs. In the corn belt, however, a pound of corn usually seems to be of more value than a pound of barley. There is so much variation in the quality of both barley and corn that it is pretty hard to make any very definite comparisons. Barley needs almost but not quite as much protein supplement as does corn.

NEWS ABOUT COURT HOUSEGeneral Happenings Taken From the Records of the Various County Offices*Plain Drunk.

Cecil McDonald, who was raising Cain with his wife at their home and making himself a general nuisance while drunk at their home in Duvall Saturday was brought in by the sheriff's department. In probate court he was given a fine of $5 and costs which he paid and departed for Harrison township.

Sophie Got Hers.

Sophie Marion, cook at the Edmundson & Ferguson railroad construction camp near Ashville, was brought in by the sheriff's department Saturday. She was charged with possession of alcoholic liquor. Judge Adkins released the big lady on a bond of $600. She was arraigned in probate court and plead guilty. She was handed a fine of $600 and costs which she paid and departed for Harrison township.

Illegal Possession.

Thomas Hill, a C. & O. railroad construction man, hailing from the Bourbon state of Kentucky, was placed under arrest Sunday by the police department, slated with having liquor in his possession. He was arraigned before Mayor Fitzpatrick, plead guilty and was given a fine of $100 and costs. He was committed to the county jail to remain until fine and costs are boarded out.

For Drunkenness.

Isham Ferguson got more into his system than he could stand and when he woke up Sunday morning he was incarcerated behind stone walls. He was arraigned before Mayor Fitzpatrick, plead guilty and was fined $10 and costs. Not being able to pay, he was put back into the city prison.

Injunction Suit.

B. B. Carpenter has filed a civil action against T. J. Matheny in common pleas court in which the plaintiff asks for an injunction and accounting. It seems that the defendant has been operating a barbecue stand on the premises of the plaintiff and has not paid all his rent. The defendant wants an accounting and for a restraining order, so he will not dispose of his furniture and implements. Abernethy & Simkins represents the plaintiff.

Drunk Arrested.

T. J. Matheny of near Mt. Sterling who has been on a rampage mixed up with John Barleycorn for the past few days was brought in by the sheriff's department. Judge Adkins fined him $5 and costs which he paid and was released.

Untrustworthy Historian

Flavius Josephus, Jewish historian, was born 37 A.D. and died about 95 A.D. Consequently, his birth occurring about eight years after the death of Christ, he was in a position to obtain first-hand information from actual witnesses of the acts recorded. It must be said that much of Josephus' historical works are claimed to be spurious, and that he also was noted for exaggeration.

Minnesota Now Has Longest Concrete Road

The longest continuous stretch of concrete roadway in the world has just been completed between White Bear and Duluth, Minn. This pavement passes through 29 towns and villages over its 137-mile length.

Paving construction on this thoroughfare, State Trunk Highway No. 1, was begun in 1923. Highway authorities point out that the completed highway will save a great deal of money through low maintenance costs. Maintenance costs for gravel surfacing on this highway have been as much as $3,000 a mile, state highway records show.

The Minnesota pavement is two miles longer than the concrete pavement extending from Olympia to Vancouver, Wash. The third longest length of concrete rural pavement reaches from Kansas City to a point west of Columbia, Mo., a distance of 125 miles.

Wider Use of Steel IsProof of Man's Advance

Steel production in the United States last year reached 48,000,000 tons, more than half of the world output, according to recent reports. Americans used about six times their own weight of the material as compared with little more than two times the weight of the population at the beginning of the Twentieth century. In 1500 the total estimated output of steel and iron for the entire world was about 50,000 tons, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The increase in the production of the metals, keeping pace with the development of power machinery, has enabled a laborer to earn in a few hours today what would have required days a few centuries ago. One economist estimates that the ratio in favor of power over man toil is as high as 590 to one.

"You have made your hero too inflammable, I'm afraid," said the critic to the young author. "To begin with he has a lantern jaw. AUBURN
Straight Eights Proven In 42,000 Miles Test to be the—Fastest
American Stock CarsImpossible—

Auburn could not originate new improved designs and build cars better than they had ever been built before, and sell them for less money, said competitors.

Yet Auburn did it. The public recognized the advancement and bought. Auburn sales doubled in one year. The car itself caused it. Even today competitors are just starting to copy Auburn's original low design of three years ago.

Its Luck—It Can't Last—

they then said. Yet this year Auburn sales will again double. Auburn's growth and success is most extraordinary. The reasons for it are all built into the car itself, and the wonderful satisfaction of Auburn owners. Auburn's percent of increase is a sensation in the industry, greatly gaining where others lost, and greatly passing many of the so called "big" companies.

The Public Wins

How can buyers strip cars of their outer tinsel, of their fancy model names and exaggerated advertising

claims and get down to the real bone and flesh values?

Auburn makes its car do its own selling. It asks no favors, depends upon no high-pressure selling nor artifices. It BUILDS better and newer cars and makes the cars themselves PROVE it. Therefore Auburn's value is irrefutable.

Read These Records

To prove that Auburn cars are faster, more efficient, more durable, better engineered and built, we determined to break all official A. A. A. records for fully equipped stock cars from 5 to 5,000 miles—and DID it on the Atlantic City Speedway. Then we doubled that distance establishing new records to 10,000 miles, then on top of that we tripled it, making new records to 15,000 miles, all in one continuous test. Three times the proof of superior value ever offered buyers by any manufacturer!

Words vs Deeds

Words can not offset Auburn's deeds. Claims can not substitute for performance proofs. Auburn introduces a new kind of automobile, and shows the new kind of value you are entitled to.

SEA-GOING CARTS ARE USED AS PIER

Tabaco Port, Albay, P. I., is one of the quaintest ports the traveler could hope to see in many moons. It is on the shore of Tabaco bay, a bewitching inland sea very treacherous to ships of great depths even near shore, so that the anchorage is bad. Sea-going carts are used to load and unload the ships. These carts have wheels ten feet high and are pulled by teams of three carabaos each. Bales of manila hemp and sacks of copra (dried coconut meat, to make the oil that makes American soaps), are piled high on them and the carabaos wade into the sea and pull the carts alongside anchored lighters, onto which the hemp and copra are dumped. Then the lighters are pulled over to the waiting ships and the hemp and copra is swung aboard. The sea-going carts take the place of a pier. They fill the gap between the very deep water, where it would be next to impossible to build a pier, and the very shallow water where even lighters cannot go.

Gulf Stream Visible

In the narrowest part of the channel off Cape Florida, the Gulf stream approaches the coast to within 15 miles and is sometimes visible from the shore. The breadth of the Gulf stream at its narrowest point is about 50 miles. There is no disturbance at the edge of the stream where it joins the ocean. It is easily distinguished, however, by reason of its deep blue color.

The Come-Back
Bliss Perry, editor and author, is one of the leading members of the American academy, and at a Cambridge garden party the other day he listened with a smile to a young jazz novelist's diatribe against the famous institution.
"The French academy is a bluff," the young novelist wound up, "and the American academy is only a poor imitation of it."
Mr. Perry's smile changed to a laugh, and then he said:
"Our American academy is like death. People only poke fun at it when they know there's no danger of its gathering them in."

Extinguishing the Blaze
"You have no fire-fighting apparatus here," said a stranger in Ten De-grees. "How was the recent conflagration handled?"
"Well, when the lumber yard began to blaze the motor bus from Top Heavy came along," answered a citizen, "and the driver ordered the prominent citizens standing around to line up and spit tobacco juice on the flames. They done so, and put it out."

Bandits Change Bus Routes
Marauding Bedouin bandits are in-terrupting auto bus service across the Syrian desert. Reports that they were active near Damascus caused the prop-rietary of the Beirut-Bagdad line to de-tour to Palmyra. Heavy snows in the Lebanon mountains caused an-other shift to the Beirut-Trip-pole-Homs-Palmyra-Rutbah-Beirut route, a much longer distance. With the melt-ing of the snows the route will be changed again, but the Bedouins still keep the busses from direct travel be-tween Damascus and Iraq. Many travelers fear to venture on the route.

Seeing Others' Viewpoint
The capacity to look on both sides of a question is the attribute of all fair-minded men and women. Stub-bornness is usually the mark of the tyrant. The refusal to budge from a position once taken up, or to admit that there can be any other view than one's own, is mere stupidity.—Ex-change.

Requires More Wealth to Be Called Rich Now
A recent survey shows the wealth of America has risen one-third in five years, but it requires much more wealth to be a rich man today than it did years ago. In presenting the citizens of Bethel, Conn., which was his boyhood home, with a bronze fountain, P. T. Barnum said in his presentation speech:
"Esquire Tom Taylor was a large, majestic-looking man, of great will force, and was considered the richest man in Bethel. Mr. Eli Judd was marked second in point of wealth. Every year I took $12 to Esquire Tom Taylor to pay the interest on a $200 note my father owed him. I also an-nually carried $4.50 to Eli Judd for interest on a $75 note which he held against my father.
"As these wealthy men quietly turned each note filed away in a pack-age till they found the note of my father, I trembled with awe to think I stood in the presence of such won-derfully rich men. It was estimated that the richer of them was actually worth $3,000."

Consider the Alternative
Alas, it is man's fate to keep on growing older long after he is old enough!—Toledo Blade.

THE SEED CORN SITUATION IS VERY SERIOUS

An Early Freeze Will Kill Many Millions of Bushels --Save Seed in Time.

Good seed corn will be scarcer next spring than at any time during the last 50 years. That is the out-look now with the corn crop in the corn belt from two to six weeks late and frost likely to come any night. There never was a time when early gathering, drying and storing of seed corn will pay greater than it will this fall. Unless we gather our own seed this fall thousands of us next spring will plant seed that is weak or dead. Or we will buy seed from 'way off somewhere that is not suitable for our locality, and as a result our next year's crop will again be weak and late.

Here's an important thing to bear in mind right now:
Any farmer can have his own seed corn for next year, if his corn, this year, gets past the roasting ear stage of maturity. Corn gathered in hard roasting ear stage and thoroughly dried will grow. It is surprising how vigorously it will grow. This early-gathered seed will shrink and shrivel considerably, but the important thing this year, is the fact that it will grow.

In any emergency delay is serious. The man who does something about his next year's seed before it is too late, is the man who will have seed corn to plant in the spring of 1928. The man who uses his head can figure out a method of gathering and storing seed corn on his farm. He can swing a sack over his shoulder and pick the best ears from the best stalks. That's the right method whether the corn is early or late. About 15 ears will plant an acre. Bet-ter gather two or three times as much as will be needed to plant the acreage. How long will it take to gather next year's seed supply? How can we make more money in the same length of time?

Don't throw the immature ears down in a bag or leave them in a box or barrel. Don't put them in a pile. Hang them up the very day and hour they are gathered. Hang them so the ears won't touch each other—they'll mold where they may touch. Don't hang them outdoors—it may rain and freeze. Hang them where warm air will circulate all around them. There is some place on the farm to thoroly dry next year's seed corn. It may be over the kitchen.

Get the seed dry and keep it thru the winter where it won't freeze. Freezing never does seed corn any good no matter how dry the seed is. No one denies the statement that seed corn is better when it ripens and hardens on the stalk, but it won't do it this year. It's a lot better to have immature seed that will grow and be suitable for the locality than to have no seed next spring or to send away off for seed corn that may not mat-ure, no matter how good a corn year 1928 may be. If frost stays away un-till November and the corn gets ripe we can then gather ripe seed. Don't wait for that but take advantage of it if comes. Don't take a gambler's chance of waiting for ripe seed this year. Let's insure ourselves now at little cost with roasting-ear seed.
Do something. Do it now. Gather-ing roasting-ear seed is good busi-ness this abnormal corn year of 1927.

Who Cares About 'Whom,' 'Shall,' or 'Will'? Asks Jury
Chicago.—A jury of 222 authors, ed-itors, business men and teachers, who returned their verdict to Prof. S. A. Leonard of the University of Wisc-on-sin, acting for the national council of teachers of English, has put an O. K. on misuse of "shall" and "will" and "who" and "whom." Among 45 locu-tions banned from speech and writing by the jury, however, are these:
"None of them are here."
"Will you be at the Browns' this evening?"
"Who are you looking for?"
"There's a dangerous curve and you'd better go slow."
"It is me."
"There is a bed, dresser and two chairs in the room."
"Can I be excused?"
"That clock must be fixed."
"Try and get it."
Some members of the jury said they would accept all these idioms. Virtu-ally every member of the jury said the hidebound rules of rhetoric were fast giving way. Nice distinctions between "shall" and "will" and "may" and "can" are passing in everyday speech in favor of originality and forceful-ness.

BUT ONE SHIP LEFT IN WHALING PORT

New Bedford's Sea Era Drawing to Close.

New Bedford, Mass.—Another heroic chapter in the history of New Eng-land, filled with the exploits of strong men in combat with the giants of the sea, is drawing to a close.

This old-time port, that has been home to hundreds of sail of whalers, now can boast only one whaling ship. The schooner John R. Manta may be the "last of the whalers," for most of the old-time whalemens are dead, and the Manta's only hope of recruiting a crew is to sail across the Atlantic ocean to the Azores.

A few still live who remember the heyday of whaling, when this port teemed with the activity of the whal-ing barks, when men sailed away on seemingly interminable voyages, when wives and families of seamen and captains haunted the "widows' walks" on the old-time houses, hoping to catch a glimpse of a returning ship. But those who remember are grow-ing old and some are nearing the century mark.

Recalls Whaling Thrills.
Among those who remember keenly those earlier days is Capt. Ulysses E. Mayhew of West Tisbury, on the is-land of Martha's Vineyard. His youth-ful appearance and spirit belie his fourscore years. In his life he has had adventures and experiences that would cram more than one movie "thriller."

As a boy in his teens he sailed his first whaling voyage during the Civil war. On that trip he learned about stalking the whale in small boats, harpooning, the downward rush of the wounded whale and the peril to the small boat as the rope ran off from the shrieking windlass. And he learned how the "kill" at last was effected, with lance or bomb-gun.

Last Survivor of Lafayette Crew.
Captain Mayhew believes he is the last survivor of the crew of the bark Lafayette, burned and sunk with two other Yankee ships off Fernando de Noronha, Brazilian convict island, by the Confederate warship Alabama.
After a series of adventures he was sent back by the United States con-sul from Brazil and promptly shipped on another whaler. On this next voy-age he saw the U. S. S. Kearsarge at Fayal, in the Azores, just after it had sunk the Alabama.

It is a far cry, he says, from those old days to the modern times that have seen the typical old whaling barks Greyhound and Wanderer pass on. Of those proud times, only the schooner John R. Manta remains. And New Bedford has long since turned from whaling to its great cotton tex-tile mills.

Wives Jealous, Taxicab Drivers Change Plans

Brooklyn, N. Y.—A new angle of the bitter controversy among mem-bers of the South Brooklyn and Bay Ridge Taximen's association over the advisability of admitting women into the organization came to light recent-ly at a meeting in the Admiral Dewey council clubhouse.

The association was on the verge of capitulating to the amazons of the highways when somehow the wives of several members got wind of what was going on and now the chances of putting through this co-membership plan don't look so good.

This latest development was re-vealed by Harry Carlson, an officer of the organization, who admitted that when his wife heard about the plan "she wasn't at all in favor of it."
Carlson added:
"You know yourself that if the wife of one of our members should come in here during a meeting some night and find her husband sitting between two strange women it wouldn't look so good for him."

And so the resolution which would admit the feminine gear shifters to membership definitely has been re-lated to the table, on which it was placed several months ago, and the members admit that the only way it can be taken off is by a change of heart on the part of their better halves, which they seem to sense is not likely.

AMUSEMENTS

A spectacular orphanage fire, which excels in magnitude and thrills any fire scene ever photographed, is one of the thrilling sequences in-cluded in "The Fire Brigade," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer special play-ing at the Met theater, yet it is said to have been filled with remarkably little confusion.

Dozens of motion picture stars and directors were present the night of the fire at the studio, and all declared it the most perfectly handled big scene ever made.

Director William Nigh worked with Fire Chief Ralph Scott of Los-Angeles and Chief Jay W. Stevens, under whose supervision the blaze was staged, in planning and filming the fire. More than fifty motion pic-ture cameras were trained on the scene to catch every possible move-ment of the flames.

Being a "four alarmer" the fire was staged in four parts, each one more spectacular than the former. In the last blaze, every window in the large five story building is flaming thirty-two pieces of fire apparatus are working in the scene and more than five hundred people are before the cameras. The spectacle on the screen is one of amazing beauty with twenty powerful streams of water playing on the blaze.

Five-Story Leap.
Perhaps the most thrilling event in the picture comes when Charles Ray leaps from the top of the burning building into a ninefoot net held by fifteen firemen on the ground. Many other spectacular jumps and rope rescues are negotiated from other windows in the structure.

"The Fire Brigade" received the expert cooperation of the International Order of Fire Engineers in its filming, and in return the studio is giving a large percentage of the net proceeds to this order for the carry-ing on of its fire prevention work. Another portion is to be given to various fire and sick benefits main-tained by fire departments thruout the country.

EAGLES

Divide a Double Header With Carroll At Mason's Field Sunday Afternoon.

Circleville Eagles and Carroll divided a double header at Mason's lot Sunday, the locals taking the first contest by a score of 2 to 0, while the visitors annexed the night cap by a score of 7 to 1. Each was a seven inning affair.

Big Bill Sutton was the whole works in the first game. The Carrollites could do nothing with his offerings from the mound, securing but four safe blows and thirteen of them were set down on strikes, quite an imposing performance for a seven inning game.

Big Bill also cinched his own game in the third, when he hit the first ball pitched for a ride over the left field barrier. It was a terrific drive, never going over fifty or sixty feet from the ground while traveling fifty feet beyond the fence before it hit the ground.

Circleville secured their other score in the fourth, when Thompson walked and came on around on Briggs' hit to right center.

Carroll never threatened to score in this contest.

Russ Miller went to the mound for Circleville in the final game, but lacked control, was hit freely and was given poor support. He retired in favor of Sutton in the third with one man down, Carroll meanwhile having collected seven runs, three each in the first and third and one in the second. They made five hits, were given two bases on balls and one batsman was hit, which with two errors piled up a score there was little hopes of over-coming. Sutton held them safe for the remainder of the contest, but did not pitch so impressively as in the first contest.

Smith pitched a fairly good game for Carroll, while Circleville collected nine hits off of his delivery, he tightened up in the pinches and aided by some fast fielding behind him and some poor base running by Circleville was never in danger.

SHORT SMILES

Comforting

Wife (to husband, after quarrel)—Isn't it nice to be friends again, even if it is only for a few minutes!

Placing Him

"I say, who was John Bunyan?"
"He was—er—ah—oh—he was an eminent specialist on foot troubles."

Cautious

Father—The man who marries my daughter will get a prize.
Suitor—May I see it, please?

His Work

Housewife—What do you work at, poor man?
Tramp—At intervals, ma'am.

Two in One

"I'm going to marry a pretty girl and a good cook."
"You can't. That's bigamy."

Righto!

Teacher—What is the hardest thing to learn about farming?
Student—Getting up at 5 a. m.

Plural

Parent (anxiously)—Nurse, is it a "him" or a "her"?
The Nurse—It's a "them"!

Uncanny

Author—How are my novels going?
Bookseller—I can't figure it out—unless it's shoplifters.

Quick Thinking

"To think this is our honeymoon trip and you went to the station and bought a ticket for only one."
"Well! Well! Now, dearest, what do you think of that? I had forgotten myself entirely."

Less Congested

The Boss—Do you want to take your vacation this summer?
Bookkeeper—No, I want to take mine in the winter so I can get a seat on the observation platform.

Coffin Telephones

An experiment has been undertaken at the cemetery of San Jose, in Spain, for the installation of tiny telephones in each coffin. These are to be connected to an alarm bell in the porter's lodge, thus providing against the possibility of anyone being buried alive.

METHODISTS' FORCES MEET AT DELAWARE

Three Conferences Will Gather in College Town at the Same Time This Week.

For the first time in its history, the three Ohio conferences of the Methodist Episcopal church will meet together. The place is Delaware and the conferences opened Tuesday.

Not since the Methodist centennial in Columbus eight years ago, have there been so many officials and members of the church congregated as are in Delaware this week.

The three conferences represented are the Ohio, Northeast Ohio and the West Ohio, each presided over by a separate bishop.

Business sessions are separate, but united services are held each evening, and forces will be joined in the afternoons to discuss education.

Every home with facilities for caring for the thousands of visitors has been drafted and dormitories of Ohio Wesleyan university, sorority and fraternity houses also will be used for sleeping quarters.

Opening of public schools was delayed one week so as not to interfere with entertainment of guests. Feeding the several thousand, which has been one of the big problems confronting the citizens, has been arranged. Churches will provide meals in addition to the hotels, restaurants and private homes.

THE SUN NEVER SETS ON CHESTERFIELD'S POPULARITY

[Popular in all 4 corners of the Earth...]

where cigarettes must satisfy a hundred races

IT SEEMS almost instinctive—this liking for natural tobacco taste.

How else explain Chesterfield's popularity in Shanghai—cross-roads of the Orient, city of a hundred races, and usually, a hundred tastes?

From Shanghai to London, from Washington to Bombay, Chesterfield is winning the good will of the world as no other cigarette ever did.

Chesterfield

—such popularity must be deserved!

Wood for Tobacco Pipes
The root used in making tobacco pipes and commonly called briar, is not the root of a briar but of a tree found near the Mediterranean in southern Europe. The name of the tree is the French word "bryer," and the English name briar is a corruption of the French word.

An Error of Omission
On Mother's day the children bought their mother a beautiful plant. Just a few days before Father's day, the mother said to the children: "Now, next Sunday is Father's day and you bought such a nice flower for me, I think it would be nice to get some nice flowers for dad." Little Ruthie could not quite understand. She said: "I don't see why. He didn't buy us a thing on Children's day."

Americans Use More Electricity Nowadays
The ordinary daily life of the average American is growing more electrical every year. In 1925 the average home in this country used 365 kilowatt-hours of electrical current or about enough in a day to operate 20 ordinary house lamps one hour. In 1926 the consumption had grown to 400 kilowatt-hours per family, an increase of about 10 per cent. The rates throughout the land experienced a slight decrease, so that even though people used one-tenth more electricity, the average family bill for the year 1926 was only $29.24 as compared with $27.89 the year before. These statistics are the result of a nation-wide survey made by Electrical Merchandising.

U. S. Blades Shave Europe
All Europe, it seems, is buying its safety razor shaves from America, says the American Druggist Magazine. Excluding the United Kingdom, where a prohibitive duty is imposed, safety razor blades shipped to Europe in 1926 were valued at $5,869,203, as compared with $4,800,297 in the preceding year.

AMERICAN LEGION
Members Rendered Valuable Aid At Fire Which Damaged the Home of Seymour McGath In Maplewood Avenue.

Members of Howard Hall Post, American Legion, had their first experience as fire fighters last evening when they voluntarily assisted the local fire department at the home of Seymour McGath in Maplewood Ave. The fire was discovered about 6:45 and the alarm sounded but the blaze had gained quite a headway before the department could reach the scene. The proximity of other houses made the danger greater and it was thought for a time that the home was doomed. However, after strenuous work by the department and the volunteer workers from the Legion, the blaze was gotten under control. It is thought that a defective flue was the cause as the fire was discovered in the attic. Mr. McGath carried insurance with the Hummel & Plum agency, $1,600 on the house and $600 on the household furniture.

The work of the Legionnaires is in accordance with a resolution passed at a recent meeting when it was decided that they would work in this way under the local fire chief.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Ginder and daughter, Violet Ginder, and Mrs. Harry M. Hill and son, Loring and daughter, Evelyn, of Darbyville, were entertained to a six o'clock dinner on Labor day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Smith and family in Lancaster.

Among the many social activities of late summer was that given by Miss Nellie Riffe in the form of a farewell luncheon honoring Miss Helen Valentine, who marriage to Mr. John Bolender took place Monday, September 5. The table was very pretty in its colors of yellow and white illuminated with tall yellow candles, and as Mr. and Mrs. Bolender sailed for Paris, France and other European countries, the place cards were miniature ships.

The fourth annual reunion of the Barthelmas-Wardell families was held at the Stoutsville camp ground Sunday, September 4. At noon 76 members and guests partook of a bounteous dinner served in the large dining room on the camp ground. After dinner a business meeting was held and the following officers elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Jack Wardell; vice president, Thomas Wardell Sr.; secretary-treasurer, Bertha M. Kimmel. A splendid talk was given by George Troutman on the sights and experiences on his trip abroad. A very interesting talk was given by Rev. J. Barthelmas, after which we all adjourned to meet again on the first Sunday in September, 1928.

At their beautiful country home, the venerable Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Newton of near Circleville, Sunday, September 4, were hosts to a large number of folks that marked the gathering of four generations. STRIKE OF COAL MINERS ABOUT OVER

Is the Tale Told By Leaders of the Striking Miners In the State of Illinois, Which Is the Key To Unionized Soft Coal Fields, and Which Rules the Entire Bituminous Coal Region of the Country.

Despite statements by spokesmen for miners and operators to the contrary, reports persisted Tuesday that an end to the five months' suspension of coal operations in Illinois was near.

Wednesday miners and operators met in Chicago in the second joint conference since the union workers of the bituminous industry quit after having failed to make a new contract.

"There is nothing new to the situation," said Rice Miller, president of the operators. "There has been no settlement."

Miller's denial was in reply to a story in the Chicago Daily Journal which, quoting an "authoritative source," said:

"Illinois coal operators and miners are certain that a conference which begins Wednesday will result in an agreement and an early resumption of work, probably not later than September 15."

From Hillsboro, Illinois, it was reported that two mines, owned by Miller, were being cleared up and that was taken as an indication that he expected a resumption of operations.

John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, denied that settlement had been reached. He said he would attend the meeting.

No one has been approached about a settlement, remarked J. L. Good, secretary of the Ohio Coal bureau and spokesman for the operators of that state.

"Ohio operators intend to go on with their plan to open their mines on the 1917 wage scale, employing such union or nonunion labor as may be available," continued Good.

Illinois operators have held persistently they cannot reopen their mines and pay the Jacksonville wage scale because of competition from Kentucky, West Virginia and Tennessee nonunion mines. The miners are bound by their last convention not to agree to wages below those of the last three years—the period of the Jacksonville agreement.

Illinois is the largest producing unit of the unionized soft coal fields.

Hearing of the application of three Belmont county coal companies to make permanent an injunction restraining union miners from picketing their properties was adjourned in federal court late Tuesday and was resumed Wednesday.

Officers of subdistrict No. 6, United Mine Workers and officials of the coal companies involved, occupied the witness stand Tuesday at the opening of the hearing before Judge Benson W. Hough.

Indications are that the case will be concluded and that the court either will announce decision or take the matter under advisement.

John Cinque, executive of Subdistrict No. 6, testified that in picketing mines which employ nonunion labor the miners organization attempts only a method of peaceful persuasion to win the nonunion men over to their cause.

Coal company representatives who were called to the stand to support the assertion of plaintiffs that disorders had interfered with mining operations were Sharp Hathaway, superintendent of the Florence mine, Martins Ferry, and R. L. Ireland, general manager of the Rose mine Boomer Coal company. They described the alleged blocking of roads by union miners to prevent nonunion workers reaching the mines where they were employed.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

MISS HARRISON DEAD.

Miss Hattie Binnie Harrison, employee of the Z. L. White Co., 16 years died Sunday night in the home of her cousin, Mrs. Mary Teegardin, 698 South Remington road, Columbus. Her health had been failing for the past four years.

Miss Harrison was 54 years of age. She had been reared by her aunt, Mrs. William Woodard, her mother having died when she was a year old. The aunt, who is now 83 years of age and Miss Harrison made their home with Mrs. Teegardin, daughter of Mrs. Woodard. Miss Harrison was a saleswoman in the drapery department the Z. L. White store until 1923 because of her illness she was compelled to give up her duties.

The deceased formerly was a member of the South Congregational church. One brother, Charles M. Harrison, of Toledo, also survives.

Funeral services at the Remington road residence Wednesday. Interment in Fernwood cemetery at Lockbourne.

The deceased was a first cousin of Mrs. Nannie G. Hamilton, of this city.

TUBERCULOSIS CAUSES DEATH OF MRS. RUTTER

Was Born in Gallipolis 63 Years Ago--Funeral Thursday Afternoon.

Mrs. Priscilla Ann Rutter died at her home, 369 East Corwin street, at noon Tuesday. She had been ill for seven years and her death was due to tuberculosis.

The deceased was born in Gallipolis and was 63 years of age. She had been a resident of this city for twenty years. She was the widow of Dennis Rutter.

PHONE CALLS TO HIS WIFE IS UNDOING

One of Three Men Who Broke Out of Franklin County Jail is Recaptured.

Agosta Perez, Mexican, Oakley avenue, Columbus, one of the three prisoners who sawed their way out of the Franklin county jail shortly after 5 a. m., Tuesday, was captured about 9 p. m., at Third and Town streets.

The two other men, Owen Lowrey, colored, serving six month sentence, on a contributing to delinquency charge and Edward Holmes, Ironton imprisoned on a failure to provide charge, are still at large. Perez had been awaiting grand jury action on grand burglary and grand larceny counts.

A telephone message to his wife for money proved his undoing. The message was intercepted by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Paul. Perez told his wife to meet him at Town and Third streets, and when he appeared he was arrested by Sheriff Gump and Chief Deputy Sheriff Harry Paul.

"Tips" on whereabouts of the other two escaped prisoners kept the sheriff and his deputies busy Tuesday night.

Ferez, Sheriff Gump said, was the ringleader of the trio which has been working as kitchen helpers in the east basement, where the escape occurred. They sawed a bar in a window and then used a plank to scale a 12-foot wall on the east side of the jail.

The sheriff said he believed the saw used by the men was smuggled into the jail.

This is the first escape from the jail since April, 1925, when a prisoner sawed his way out and later was captured by Deputy Sheriff Harry Paul in West Popular street.

FINED $25.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. West, of Columbus, were placed under arrest Monday by Constable J. S. Hoover, of Harrison township. They were taken before Justice Frank Hudson and Mr. West was given a fine of $25 for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He was brought to this city and was placed in the county jail.

POLITICS TO BE DISCUSSED IN FROG CITY

Attorney General Turner and Congressman Davey the Speakers at Toledo.

Columbus, September (Special).—Toledo will draw the attention of political followers of both the Republican and Democratic parties during the week.

On Thursday the unusual will happen at the banquet to be given by The Association of County Treasurers of the state, at the Commodore Perry hotel.

Edward C. Turner, attorney general, recognized as a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination on the Republican ticket and Congressman Martin L. Davey of the 14th Ohio district, who is regarded as seeking a similar honor as the Democratic nominee, will both speak.

While not in the nature of a joint debate the policies and platforms of the two parties will necessarily be brought into the talks and an opportunity furnished to study the personalities and fitness of these opposing candidates.

It would be surprising if both took the occasion as a fitting one to announce their candidacies but in any event each will be looked upon as opposing candidates for the chief executiveship of the state.

One thing is certain. The sparks will fly from the political anvil.

Attorney General Turner is certain to continue his attack upon the Anti-Saloon League and the public utilities of Ohio and further pursue his argument that these two interests are the dominant factor in shaping the legislative policy of Ohio. He is preparing his speech with that in mind and securing the necessary data to sustain his arguments.

Congressman Davey will devote himself more to a discussion of the attitude of the Democratic party on state and national affairs, treating the subject of conservation, in which he is recognized as the leading exponent in the country, in a liberal way.

The banquet is looked forward to with interest and the leaders of the parties are expecting that out of the meeting of the men will come a more definite understanding as to the outcome of the primaries in August of next year.

It will be a banquet worth going a long distance to attend—George U. Marvin.

CHURCH CENTENNIAL.

The Scioto Presbyterian church at Commercial Point celebrates its centennial next Sunday. The speaker for the evening service will be the Rev. E. S. Toensmeier of the Circleville church. There will be no evening service in the local church. The members are requested to attend the service at Commercial Point. Messrs. Cellar, Stevenson and Clapp have been appointed a committee on transportation. Those having no cars are asked to report to this committee, also any wishing to attend. The quartet from the local church will sing several numbers.

WILL BUILD OVERHEAD

NEW METHOD OF ATTACK

Upon Problem of Lost and Damaged Freight To Be Launched By Eastern and Southeastern Railroads and Steamship Lines.
A new method of attack upon the problem of lost and damaged freight will be launched by Eastern and Southeastern railroads and steamship lines. at a meeting to be held at the Cavalier Hotel, Virginia Beach, Va., September 8, according to information by The Circleville Herald. Representatives of 85 railroads, including the Norfolk & Western Railway, will be present for the purpose of carrying this new campaign into their respective territories. The meeting will last for but one day and will climax a three-day series of conferences of railroad claim officers.
The new method of attack on this problem, which is costing the public and the railroads millions annually, centers about an attempt to interest railroad superintendents in measures to correct the principal causes for damaged or lost freight. It will be launched by inviting one superintendent from each railroad in Eastern and Southeastern territory to participate in the discussion of two subjects—"Carload Damage" and "Lost Freight." Through the interest of the superintendents participating in the conference, it is hoped that all superintendents and the hundreds of thousands of railway employees having to do with the handling of freight in the territory involved, will redouble their efforts to stop this economic waste.
The series of meetings, of which this joint conference will be the climax, began Sept. 5 when the twelve members of the National Claim Prevention Committee of the Freight Claim Division of the American Railway Association began a two-day discussion of claim prevention problems in the United States and Canada.
On September 7 the Southeastern Claim Conference, the Virginia Claim Conference and the Eastern Claim Conference will hold separate sessions for the discussion of claim problems relating to the three territories involved.
On September 8 a joint meeting of the three claim conferences, the National Claim Prevention Committee and the executive officials of the Freight Claim Division, together with representatives of the operating department of the 105 railroads and steamship lines which are members of the three conferences, will be held. Representatives of the U. S. Department of Commerce and officers of the Railway Accounting Officers' Association will also address this meeting.

AUBURN CAR SHOWS UP WELL IN TEST.
A speed and endurance test recently finished by Auburn on the Atlantic City speedway, which took 10 days and nights of continuous driving showed that the stock car, under the official sanction and observation of the American Automobile association delivered 15,000 miles in less than 15,000 minutes with nine drivers working in relays, driving three Auburns for a total of 42,000 miles, shattering 37 existing stock car records and making 34 new records.
First, the three stock cars broke all records from 5 to 5,000 miles. Then another 5,000 miles established new American stock car records for 10,000 miles at better than a mile a minute. And then the 5,000 miles more to satisfy everyone concerned, with Auburn's endurance under high speed beyond all established precedents. Two roadsters and a sedan were used. The sedan, after 2,000 miles of record breaking, had an accident. Seven hours later the body repairs were made and without a mechanical change, it finished its 15,000 miles at an average speed of over 62 miles per hour. With the loss of its fenders, this car lost its status after 2,637 miles, but nevertheless was officially timed by American Automobile association representatives.

Enjoy Your Home --- All of It ---
This winter many families will LIVE ALL OVER THEIR HOMES--using all the rooms, enjoying the comforts of ALL of their furniture, for they will use the modern Cabinet Heaters.
Others will live in one or two rooms, close up the balance of the house for the winter, all on account of the inefficiency of the old type of heating stove. They will hover around the old stove in an effort to keep warm, while the other folks will be enjoying themselves all over their homes, for the reason that they are using one of our circulating Heaters.
There is no "guess-work" any more about these new heaters doing the work for which they are intended. We have sold them for the past five years AND THEY DO WORK. Ask any of our users--we'll be glad to tell you who they are and where they live.

EUROPEAN LOTTERY SHOPS PLENTIFUL

In Europe nearly all the states not only permit lotteries, but almost every government runs some of them. Lottery shops in Italy are as plentiful as tobacco shops, and in Austria each tobacco shop, all part of the government monopoly, is also a lottery shop. Besides there are special places where lotteries are marketed, and their advertising is intense. Government loans nearly always have a drawing attached, partly as an advertising measure, mainly to appeal to that desire to invest one shilling and draw out a million.

AMMUNITION GIVEN DRY BY OFFICIAL

State Prohibition Chief is in Favor of Marshall Bill
--Makes Report.

State Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald supplied to the Anti-Saloon league ammunition for its campaign to retail the Marshall bill, restoring to justices of the peace their jurisdiction in liquor cases in his annual report to Governor Donahey by citing conditions which, he said, had been brought about because of the United States supreme court decision in the Tumeys case.

While he referred to the Taft decision as a "righteous one," McDonald said it had militated against law enforcement generally. He also took occasion to assail "prominent newspapers of the state," which he said, were encouraging law violation.

"The Tumeys decision has left all enforcement outside the larger municipalities virtually up to probate and common pleas courts," McDonald said. "some of these courts have said that if these cases were brought before them they would be heard in their order, which meant that the trial of an ordinary bootlegger might be delayed six months or a year."

Encouragement is charged.
It is very evident to unprejudiced minds what condition of law enforcement will exist in a short time under such conditions. There are communities that will be left helpless where such conditions prevail.

"With the encouragement given to the bootleggers and other law breakers the propaganda that is being thrust upon the public by several prominent newspapers of the state, the condition to which I refer presents to the citizens interested in the enforcement of law a matter of serious consideration."

With the passage of the Etling law, which directs the payment of one half of the fines from liquor cases to the county and the other half to the state, partly cures the situation caused by the Taft decision in the Tumeys case. The other ground decision remains to be cured, awaiting the outcome of the referendum on the Marshall bill, McDonald said.

"While the decision in the Tumeys case has been accepted by dries as well as wets as correct in principle, it has left the state virtually without an inferior court with legal and constitutional right to enforce the law, and has not only resulted in greater defiance of law, but has resulted in loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars in fines to the state and its political subdivisions." The report states.

Improvement Is Cited.
But, notwithstanding the conditions which he says exist, McDonald says he feels justified in saying "that the enforcement of prohibition generally is reasonably effective and that it has generally improved during his four and one half year's incumbency."

The wet propagandist, with whom the wish is the father to the thought, often proclaims conditions as worse than they ever were and that such and such a city is "wide open," said McDonald. "Neither of these statements is true." McDonald cites his own city of Newark as an example. Where ninety saloons flourished a few years ago and where it was common to see a half dozen or more "drunks" on the street, at a recent celebration in that city, which brought together 10,000 persons, not one drunken person was seen.

Other spots were touched upon by McDonald in his report. In Steubenville conditions have improved by reason of the removal of the former mayor, he said. If Jefferson county officials would apply the padlock proceeds to many places that are eligible it would be a great aid. The prosecuting attorney of Jefferson county was supplied with facts upon which to apply padlock proceedings as much as eighteen months ago, yet no action has been brought, he declared.

McDonald recommends use of the padlock proceedings for other counties that are annoyed by repeated violations.

Toledo, McDonald said, has become a strategic point for bootleggers, because of its nearness to Detroit, which he said had been appropriately dubbed the "wettest in the United States." But in spite of this, the cooperation of the police department and the federal official, we have been able to accomplish much good in that city.

Police of Cincinnati, Columbus and Cleveland still continue to cooperate heartily with this department," the commissioner says. Excellent cooperation from the federal prohibition commissioner was reported.

McDonald summarized activities of his department during the last year as follows: Inspections made, 4,708; arrests, 5,236; convictions, 3,535; fines assessed, $1,183,325; fines collected under the Crabbe act, $1,560,606.48; paid into state treasury, $780,303.24; transporters apprehended, 192; stills taken, 538; samples analyzed, 45.

Amount expended by the department, $146,779.59; it was estimated there are 1,200 violators languishing in jail because of inability to pay their fines and 200 in the penitentiary or the reformatory for penal offenses.

Made More Efficient

by Physical Training

Physical training means an increase of the efficiency with which the chemical and physical processes of life are carried on, reports Hygeia, health magazine published by the American Medical association.

Studies made recently showed that a trained man can perform a given amount of work with a smaller consumption of oxygen than an untrained man and with less demand on his heart. The trained man breathes more slowly and more deeply and his heart beats less frequently. As a result of systematic exercise, the subjects of the study felt better and were more alert, their appetites improved, muscles developed and capacity for physical work increased.

Saved by Rod and Line

Fishing from a little boat 100 feet off shore in the Little Manatee river, Ruskin, Fla., Daniel Holloway upset the boat in attempting to raise the anchor and struggled helplessly in the water. His son Horace, unable to swim, and with no other help near, made a cast with rod and line. The hooks of the bass lure caught in the clothing of the drowning man. His son drew him to shore and revived him.

No man is entitled to credit for being good if he isn't tempted.

Cornstalk Test Has Been Tried

Practical Application of Method Reported by Purdue Specialist.

The new "cornstalk" test for determining plant food requirements of the soil is receiving a great amount of attention following the completion of an extensive survey in which the test was applied in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and other states. Announcement is made that the hundreds of tests thus made agree remarkably well with the results of field experiments in these states.

Apply Certain Chemicals.

The test is made during the latter part of the season by cutting open the stalk and applying certain chemicals to the tissues. Abundance or lack of nitrogen is indicated by one test, while the presence of excess iron in the joints, as shown by another chemical, indicates a deficiency of potassium.

The practical application of this method is well illustrated by the experience of R. F. Rauth of Warrick county, Indiana, as reported by Prof. C. T. Gregory of Purdue agricultural experiment station.

Three years ago Mr. Rauth was much discouraged with his corn crop, and had about decided that his clay soil was not fitted for corn. Yields were very low as were those of his neighbors on the same kind of land. Learning about the proposed new tests of Dr. G. N. Hoffer, at Purdue university, he sent stalks in to be tested and received the reply that the stunted condition indicated lack of potash and the iron in the joints showed serious need of potash.

Produced Better Corn.

In 1925 he used a 2-12-2 fertilizer and produced much better corn, but still it was not quite what he wanted. Stalks were again sent in and this time the reply was to use more potash in the fertilizer. In 1926 Rauth used two analyses, 0-10-10 on part of the field, and 2-12-6 on the rest of the field. The results showed that lack of potash, as well as of phosphoric acid, was causing his difficulty. He also found that his corn was free from root rot, indicating that this disease is due in large part to nutritional defects.

Superior Layers Made by Proper Attention

To insure good layers next fall, keep the young birds healthy and keep them growing, advises L. M. Black, assistant poultry specialist at the New Jersey College of Agriculture. Everlasting attention to every detail should be the rule of the range during the summer months.

"The growing birds must have a constant supply of fresh water and sufficient mash hopper space must be provided," says Mr. Black. "Mash is responsible for maximum growth and it should be always available. If the birds will not eat sufficient mash in the houses, place some sheltered hoppers on the range.

"Our two great disease troubles, coccidiosis and intestinal worm infections, can be controlled only through sanitation. Clean and disinfect the houses frequently. That flies are spreaders of tapeworm cannot be overlooked, and every effort should be made to discourage their presence on the range. Don't allow rubbish and manure piles to accumulate, for they furnish ideal breeding places for this pest. Treat the manure piles liberally with hydrated lime.

"Finally, attempt to adjust the mash and grain ration so that the pullets do not come into production too early. Aim to allow five months for the growing period of Leghorn pullets. Then, before they come into a heavy lay or when they are laying about 10 per cent on range, move them to the laying pens and endeavor to get them in prime condition by feeding scratch grain heavily. Rest assured that the care and pains thus taken will be repaid, and that a flock of well-grown, healthy pullets is not only a source of profit but also of deep satisfaction."

There Should Be Plenty

Hopper Space for All

There should be enough hopper space to feed all the chicks at one time if they want to eat at the same table. They won't, but having the space means that the stronger chicks will not have opportunity to trample on the weaker chicks and make cowards and runts of them. It is better, but not always practical to keep the chicks of different ages separate. Home-made devices for giving the baby chicks the front row at the hoppers are varied and successful. Any system that keeps the droppings from the mash and gives the baby chicks a chance is good. Keep the mash hoppers filled. Alternate feast and famine plays the mischief with chicks.

Feed for Fattening

In Wisconsin and other northern states they oftentimes report that pound for pound ground barley is fully equal to corn for fattening hogs. In the corn belt, however, a pound of corn usually seems to be of more value than a pound of barley. There is so much variation in the quality of both barley and corn that it is pretty hard to make any very definite comparisons. Barley needs almost but not quite as much protein supplement as does corn.

NEWS ABOUT COURT HOUSE

General Happenings Taken From the Records of the Various County Offices

Plain Drunk.

Cecil McDonald, who was raising Cain with his wife at their home and making himself a general nuisance while drunk at their home in Duvall Saturday was brought in by the sheriff's department. In probate court he was given a fine of $5 and costs which he paid and departed for Harrison township.

Sophie Got Hers.

Sophie Marion, cook at the Edmundson & Ferguson railroad construction camp near Ashville, was brought in by the sheriff's department Saturday. She was charged with possession of alcoholic liquor. Judge Adkins released the big lady on a bond of $600. She was arraigned in probate court and plead guilty. She was handed a fine of $600 and costs which she paid and departed for Harrison township.

Illegal Possession.

Thomas Hill, a C. & O. railroad construction man, hailing from the Bourbon state of Kentucky, was placed under arrest Sunday by the police department, slated with having liquor in his possession. He was arraigned before Mayor Fitzpatrick, plead guilty and was given a fine of $100 and costs. He was committed to the county jail to remain until fine and costs are boarded out.

For Drunkenness.

Isham Ferguson got more into his system than he could stand and when he woke up Sunday morning he was incarcerated behind stone walls. He was arraigned before Mayor Fitzpatrick, plead guilty and was fined $10 and costs. Not being able to pay, he was put back into the city prison.

Injunction Suit.

B. B. Carpenter has filed a civil action against T. J. Matheny in common pleas court in which the plaintiff asks for an injunction and accounting. It seems that the defendant has been operating a barbecue stand on the premises of the plaintiff and has not paid all his rent. The defendant wants an accounting and for a restraining order, so he will not dispose of his furniture and implements. Abernethy & Simkins represents the plaintiff.

Drunk Arrested.

T. J. Matheny of near Mt. Sterling who has been on a rampage mixed up with John Barleycorn for the past few days was brought in by the sheriff's department. Judge Adkins fined him $5 and costs which he paid and was released.

Minnesota Now Has Longest Concrete Road

The longest continuous stretch of concrete roadway in the world has just been completed between White Bear and Duluth, Minn. This pavement passes through 29 towns and villages over its 137-mile length. Paying construction on this thoroughfare, State Trunk Highway No. 1, was begun in 1923. Highway authorities point out that the completed highway will save a great deal of money through low maintenance costs. Maintenance costs for gravel surfacing on this highway have been as much as $3,000 a mile, state highway records show.

The Minnesota pavement is two miles longer than the concrete pavement extending from Olympia to Vancouver, Wash. The third longest length of concrete rural pavement reaches from Kansas City to a point west of Columbia, Mo., a distance of 125 miles.

Wider Use of Steel Is

Proof of Man's Advance

Steel production in the United States last year reached 48,000,000 tons, more than half of the world output, according to recent reports. Americans used about six times their own weight of the material as compared with little more than two times the weight of the population at the beginning of the Twentieth century. In 1500 the total estimated output of steel and iron for the entire world was about 50,000 tons, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The increase in the production of the metals, keeping pace with the development of power machinery, has enabled a laborer to earn in a few hours today what would have required days a few centuries ago. One economist estimates that the ratio in favor of power over man toil is as high as 500 to one.

"You have made your hero too inflammable, I'm afraid," said the critic to the young author. "To begin with, he has a lantern jaw. In chapter two his whole face lit up; in chapter three his cheeks flamed. He gave a burning glance in chapter ten; and after blazing with wrath and boiling with rage he administered a scorching rebuke in the last five pages."

AUBURN

Straight Eights Proven In 42,000 Miles Test to be the Fastest American Stock Cars

Impossible—

Auburn could not originate new improved designs and build cars better than they had ever been built before, and sell them for less money, said competitors.

Yet Auburn did it. The public recognized the advancement and bought. Auburn sales doubled in one year. The car itself caused it. Even today competitors are just starting to copy Auburn's original low design of three years ago.

Its Luck—It Can't Last—

they then said. Yet this year Auburn sales will again double. Auburn's growth and success is most extraordinary. The reasons for it are all built into the car itself, and the wonderful satisfaction of Auburn owners. Auburn's percent of increase is a sensation in the industry, greatly gaining where others lost, and greatly passing many of the so called "big" companies.

The Public Wins

How can buyers strip cars of their outer tinsel, of their fancy model names and exaggerated advertising

claims and get down to the real bone and flesh values?

Auburn makes its car do its own selling. Its asks no favors, depends upon no high-pressure selling nor artifices. It BUILDS better and newer cars and makes the cars themselves PROVE it. Therefore Auburn's value is irrefutable.

Read These Records

To prove that Auburn cars are faster, more efficient, more durable, better engineered and built, we determined to break all official A. A. A. records for fully equipped stock cars from 5 to 5,000 miles—and DID it on the Atlantic City Speedway. Then we doubled that distance establishing new records to 10,000 miles, then on top of that we tripled it, making new records to 15,000 miles, all in one continuous test. Three times the proof of superior value ever offered buyers by any manufacturer!

Words vs Deeds

Words can not offset Auburn's deeds. Claims can not substitute for performance proofs. Auburn introduces a new kind of automobile, and shows the new kind of value you are entitled to.

SEA-GOING CARTS ARE USED AS PIER

Tabaco Port, Albay, P. I., is one of the quaintest ports the traveler could hope to see in many moons. It is on the shore of Tabaco bay, a bewitching inland sea very treacherous to ships of great depths even near shore, so that the anchorage is bad. Sea-going carts are used to load and unload the ships. These carts have wheels ten feet high and are pulled by teams of three carabaos each. Bales of manila hemp and sacks of copra (dried coconut meat, to make the oil that makes American soaps), are piled high on them and the carabaos wade into the sea and pull the carts alongside anchored lighters, on to which the hemp and copra are dumped. Then the lighters are pulled over to the waiting ships and the hemp and copra is swung aboard. The sea-going carts take the place of a pier. They fill the gap between the very deep water, where it would be next to impossible to build a pier, and the very shallow water where even lighters cannot go.

Gulf Stream Visible
In the narrowest part of the channel off Cape Florida, the Gulf stream approaches the coast to within 15 miles and is sometimes visible from the shore. The breadth of the Gulf stream at its narrowest point is about 50 miles. There is no disturbance at the edge of the stream where it joins the ocean. It is easily distinguished, however, by reason of its deep blue color.

The Come-Back

Bliss Perry, editor and author, is one of the leading members of the American academy, and at a Cambridge garden party the other day he listened with a smile to a young jazz novelist's diatribe against the famous institution.
"The French academy is a bluff," the young novelist wound up, "and the American academy is only a poor imitation of it."
Mr. Perry's smile changed to a laugh, and then he said:
"Our American academy is like death. People only poke fun at it when they know there's no danger of its gathering them in."

Extinguishing the Blaze
"You have no fire-fighting apparatus here," said a stranger in Ten Degrees. "How was the recent conflagration handled?"
"Well, when the lumber yard began to blaze the motor bus from Top Heavy came along," answered a citizen, "and the driver ordered the prominent citizens standing around to line up and spit tobacco juice on the flames. They done so, and put it out."

Bandits Change Bus Routes

Marauding Bedouin bandits are interrupting auto bus service across the Syrian desert. Reports that they were active near Damascus caused the proprietors of the Beirut-Bagdad line to detour to Palmyra. Heavy snows in the Lebanon mountains caused another shift to the Beirut-Tripoli-Homs-Palmyra-Rutbah-Belrut route, a much longer distance. With the melting of the snows the route will be changed again, but the Bedouins still keep the busses from direct travel between Damascus and Iraq. Many travelers fear to venture on the route.

Seeing Others' Viewpoint

The capacity to look on both sides of a question is the attribute of all fair-minded men and women. Stubbornness is usually the mark of the tyrant. The refusal to budge from a position once taken up, or to admit that there can be any other view than one's own, is mere stupidity.—Exchange.

THE SEED CORN SITUATION IS VERY SERIOUS

An Early Freeze Will Kill Many Millions of Bushels --Save Seed in Time.

Good seed corn will be scarcer next spring than at any time during the last 50 years. That is the outlook now with the corn crop in the corn belt from two to six weeks late and frost likely to come any night. There never was a time when early gathering, drying and storing of seed corn will pay greater than it will this fall. Unless we gather our own seed this fall thousands of us next spring will plant seed that is weak or dead. Or we will buy seed from 'way off somewhere that is not suitable for our locality, and as a result our next year's crop will again be weak and late.

Here's an important thing to bear in mind right now:
Any farmer can have his own seed corn for next year, if his corn, this year, gets past the roasting ear stage of maturity. Corn gathered in hard roasting ear stage and thoroughly dried will grow. It is surprising how vigorously it will grow. This early-gathered seed will shrink and shrivel considerably, but the important thing this year, is the fact that it will grow.

In any emergency delay is serious. The man who does something about his next year's seed before it is too late, is the man who will have seed corn to plant in the spring of 1923. The man who uses his head can figure out a method of gathering and storing seed corn on his farm. He can swing a sack over his shoulder and pick the best ears from the best stalks. That's the right method whether the corn is early or late. About 15 ears will plant an acre. Better gather two or three times as much as will be needed to plant the acreage. How long will it take to gather next year's seed supply? How can we make more money in the same length of time?

Don't throw the immature ears down in a bag or leave them in a box or barrel. Don't put them in a pile. Hang them up the very day and hour they are gathered. Hang them so the ears won't touch each other—they'll mold where they may touch. Don't hang them outdoors—it may rain and freeze. Hang them where warm air will circulate all around them. There is some place on the farm to thoroughly dry next year's seed corn. It may be over the kitchen.

Get the seed dry and keep it thru the winter where it won't freeze. Freezing never does seed corn any good no matter how dry the seed is. No one denies the statement that seed corn is better when it ripens and hardens on the stalk, but it won't do it this year. It's a lot better to have immature seed that will grow and be suitable for the locality than to have no seed next spring or to send away off for seed corn that may not mature, no matter how good a corn year 1928 may be. If frost stays away until November and the corn gets ripe we can then gather ripe seed. Don't wait for that but take advantage of it if comes. Don't take a gambler's chance of waiting for ripe seed this year. Let's insure ourselves now at little cost with roasting-ear seed.

Do something. Do it now. Gathering roasting-ear seed is good business this abnormal corn year of 1927.

Requires More Wealth to Be Called Rich Now

A recent survey shows the wealth of America has risen one-third in five years, but it requires much more wealth to be a rich man today than it did years ago. In presenting the citizens of Bethel, Conn., which was his boyhood home, with a bronze fountain, P. T. Barnum said in his presentation speech:

"Esquire Tom Taylor was a large, majestic-looking man, of great will force, and was considered the richest man in Bethel. Mr. Eli Judd was marked second in point of wealth. Every year I took $12 to Esquire Tom Taylor to pay the interest on a $200 note my father owed him. I also annually carried $450 to Eli Judd for interest on a $75 note which he held against my father.

"As these wealthy men quietly turned each note filed away in a package till they found the note of my father, I trembled with awe to think I stood in the presence of such wonderfully rich men. It was estimated that the richer of them was actually worth $3,000."

BUT ONE SHIP LEFT IN WHALING PORT

New Bedford's Sea Era Drawing to Close.

New Bedford, Mass.—Another heroic chapter in the history of New England, filled with the exploits of strong men in combat with the giants of the sea, is drawing to a close.

This old-time port, that has been home to hundreds of sail of whalers, now can boast only one whaling ship. The schooner John R. Manta may be the "last of the whalers," for most of the old-time whalers are dead, and the Manta's only hope of recruiting a crew is to sail across the Atlantic ocean to the Azores.

A few still live who remember the heyday of whaling, when this port teemed with the activity of the whaling barks, when men sailed away on seemingly interminable voyages, when wives and families of seamen and captains bawled the "widows' walks" on the old-time houses, hoping to catch a glimpse of a returning ship. But those who remember are growing old and some are nearing the century mark.

Recalls Whaling Thrills.
Among those who remember keenly those earlier days is Capt. Ulysses E. Mayhew of West Tisbury, on the island of Martha's Vineyard. His youthful appearance and spirit belie his fourscore years. In his life he has had adventures and experiences that would cram more than one movie "thriller."

As a boy in his teens he sailed his first whaling voyage during the Civil war. On that trip he learned about stalking the whale in small boats, harpooning, the downward rush of the wounded whale and the peril to the small boat as the rope ran off from the shrieking windlass. And he learned how the "kill" at last was effected, with lance or bomb-gun.

Last Survivor of Lafayette Crew.
Captain Mayhew believes he is the last survivor of the crew of the bark Lafayette, burned and sunk with two other Yankee ships off Fernando de Noronha, Brazilian convict island, by the Confederate warship Alabama.

After a series of adventures he was sent back by the United States consul from Brazil and promptly shipped on another whaler. On this next voyage he saw the U. S. S. Kearsarge at Fayal, in the Azores, just after it had sunk the Alabama.

It is a far cry, he says, from those old days to the modern times that have seen the typical old whaling barks Greyhound and Wanderer pass on. Of those proud times, only the schooner John R. Manta remains. And New Bedford has long since turned from whaling to its great cotton textile mills.

Wives Jealous, Taxicab Drivers Change Plans

Brooklyn, N. Y.—A new angle of the bitter controversy among members of the South Brooklyn and Bay Ridge Taximen's association over the advisability of admitting women into the organization came to light recently at a meeting in the Admiral Dewey council clubhouse.

The association was on the verge of capitulating to the amazons of the highways when somehow the wives of several members got wind of what was going on and now the chances of putting through this co-membership plan don't look so good.

This latest development was revealed by Harry Carlson, an officer of the organization, who admitted that when his wife heard about the plan "she wasn't at all in favor of it."

Carlson added:
"You know yourself that if the wife of one of our members should come in here during a meeting some night and find her husband sitting between two strange women it wouldn't look so good for him."

And so the resolution which would admit the feminine gear shifters to membership definitely has been relegated to the table, on which it was placed several months ago, and the members admit that the only way it can be taken off is by a change of heart on the part of their better halves, which they seem to sense is not likely.

Who Cares About 'Whom,' 'Shall,' or 'Will'? Asks Jury

Chicago.—A jury of 222 authors, editors, business men and teachers, who returned their verdict to Prof. S. A. Leonard of the University of Wisconsin, acting for the national council of teachers of English, has put an O. K. on misuse of "shall" and "will" and "who" and "whom." Among 45 locutions banned from speech and writing by the jury, however, are these:
"None of them are here."
"Will you be at the Browns' this evening?"
"Who are you looking for?"
"There's a dangerous curve and you'd better go slow."

"It is me."
"There is a bed, dresser and two chairs in the room."
"Can I be excused?"
"That clock must be fixed."
"Try and get it."
Some members of the jury said they would accept all these idioms. Virtually every member of the jury said the hidebound rules of rhetoric were fast giving way. Nice distinctions between "shall" and "will" and "may" and "can" are passing in everyday speech in favor of originality and forcefulness.

AMUSEMENTS

A spectacular orphanage fire, which excels in magnitude and thrills any fire scene ever photographed, is one of the thrilling sequences included in "The Fire Brigade," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer special playing at the Met theater, yet it is said to have been filled with remarkably little confusion.

Dozens of motion picture stars and directors were present the night of the fire at the studio, and all declared it the most perfectly handled big scene ever made.

Director William Nigh worked with Fire Chief Ralph Scott of Los Angeles and Chief Jay W. Stevens, under whose supervision the blaze was staged, in planning and filming the fire. More than fifty motion picture cameras were trained on the scene to catch every possible movement of the flames.

Being a "four alarmer" the fire was staged in four parts, each one more spectacular than the former. In the last blaze, every window in the large five story building is flaming thirty-two pieces of fire apparatus are working in the scene and more than five hundred people are before the cameras. The spectacle on the screen is one of amazing beauty with twenty powerful streams of water playing on the blaze.

Five-Story Leap.
Perhaps the most thrilling event in the picture comes when Charles Ray leaps from the top of the burning building into a ninefoot net held by fifteen firemen on the ground. Many other spectacular jumps and rope rescues are negotiated from other windows in the structure.

"The Fire Brigade" received the expert cooperation of the International Order of Fire Engineers in its filming, and in return the studio is giving a large percentage of the net proceeds to this order for the carrying on of its fire prevention work. Another portion is to be given to various fire and sick benefits maintained by fire departments thruout the country.

The cast of the big fire prevention spectacle includes May McAvoy, Charles Ray, Holmes Herbert, Tom O'Brien, Eugene Besserer, Warner P. Richmond, Bert Woodruff, Vivian Ogden, DeWitt Jennings, Dan Mason James Bradbury Jr., Erwin Connelly and others.

EAGLES

Divide a Double Header With Carroll At Mason's Field Sunday Afternoon.

Circleville Eagles and Carroll divided a double header at Mason's lot Sunday, the locals taking the first contest by a score of 2 to 0, while the visitors annexed the night cap by a score of 7 to 1. Each was a seven inning affair.

Big Bill Sutton was the whole works in the first game. The Carrollites could do nothing with his offerings from the mound, securing but four safe blows and thirteen of them were set down on strikes, quite an imposing performance for a seven inning game.

Big Bill also cinched his own game in the third, when he hit the first ball pitched for a ride over the left field barrier. It was a terrific drive, never going over fifty or sixty feet from the ground while traveling fifty feet beyond the fence before it hit the ground.

Circleville secured their other score in the fourth, when Thompson walked and came on around on Briggs' hit to right center.

Carroll never threatened to score in this contest.

Russ Miller went to the mound for Circleville in the final game, but lacked control, was hit freely and was given poor support. He retired in favor of Sutton in the third with one man down, Carroll meanwhile having collected seven runs, three each in the first and third and one in the second. They made five hits, were given two bases on balls and one batsman was hit, which with two errors piled up a score there was little hopes of overcoming. Sutton held them safe for the remainder of the contest, but did not pitch so impressively as in the first contest.

Smith pitched a fairly good game for Carroll, while Circleville collected nine hits off of his delivery, he tightened up in the pinches and aided by some fast fielding behind him and some poor base running by Circleville was never in danger.

METHODISTS' FORCES MEET AT DELAWARE

Three Conferences Will Gather in College Town at the Same Time This Week.

For the first time in its history, the three Ohio conferences of the Methodist Episcopal church will meet together. The place is Delaware and the conferences opened Tuesday.

Not since the Methodist centennial in Columbus eight years ago, have there been so many officials and members of the church congregated as are in Delaware this week.

The three conferences represented are the Ohio, Northeast Ohio and the West Ohio, each presided over by a separate bishop.

Business sessions are separate, but united services are held each evening, and forces will be joined in the afternoons to discuss education.

Every home with facilities for caring for the thousands of visitors has been drafted and dormitories of Ohio Wesleyan university, sorority and fraternity houses also will be used for sleeping quarters.

Opening of public schools was delayed one week so as not to interfere with entertainment of guests. Feeding the several thousand, which has been one of the big problems confronting the citizens, has been arranged. Churches will provide meals in addition to the hotels, restaurants and private homes.

An Error of Omission
On Mother's day the children bought their mother a beautiful plant. Just a few days before Father's day, the mother said to the children: "Now, next Sunday is Father's day and you bought such a nice flower for me, I think it would be nice to get some nice flowers for dad." Little Ruthie could not quite understand. She said: "I don't see why. He didn't buy us a thing on Children's day."

Americans Use More Electricity Nowadays
The ordinary daily life of the average American is growing more electrical every year. In 1925 the average home in this country used 365 kilowatt-hours of electrical current or about enough in a day to operate 20 ordinary house lamps one hour. In 1926 the consumption had grown to 400 kilowatt-hours per family, an increase of about 10 per cent. The rates throughout the land experienced a slight decrease so that even though people used one-tenth more electricity, the average family bill for the year 1926 was only $29.24 as compared with $27.89 the year before. These statistics are the result of a nation-wide survey made by Electrical Merchandising.

AMERICAN LEGION
Members Rendered Valuable Aid At Fire Which Damaged the Home of Seymour McGath In Maplewood Avenue.
Members of Howard Hall Post, American Legion, had their first experience as fire fighters last evening when they voluntarily assisted the local fire department at the home of Seymour McGath in Maplewood Ave. The fire was discovered about 6:45 and the alarm sounded but the blaze had gained quite a headway before the department could reach the scene. The proximity of other houses made the danger greater and it was thought for a time that the home was doomed. However, after strenuous work by the department and the volunteer workers from the Legion, the blaze was gotten under control. It is thought that a defective flue was the cause as the fire was discovered in the attic. Mr. McGath carried insurance with the Hummel & Plum agency, $1,600 on the house and $600 on the household furniture.

The work of the Legionnaires is in accordance with a resolution passed at a recent meeting when it was decided that they would work in this way under the local fire chief.

THE HEART OF MARYLAND

The ever new story of Civil War day of a girl whose heart was with the grey, but who gave her love to a boy of the blue, and risked her life to save him. Gamely she clung to the clapper of the bell, her bruised and bleeding hands muffling the signal that meant death—gamely she faced a firing squad composed of boys who had known and loved her.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Ginder and daughter, Violet Ginder, and Mrs. Harry M. Hill and son, Loring and daughter, Evelyn, of Darbyville, were entertained to a six o'clock dinner on Labor day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Smith and family in Lancaster.

Among the many social activities of late summer was that given by Miss Nellie Riffle in the form of a farewell luncheon honoring Miss Helen Valentine, who marriage to Mr. John Bolender took place Monday, September 5. The table was very pretty in its colors of yellow and white illuminated with tall yellow candles, and as Mr. and Mrs. Bolender sailed for Paris, France and other European countries, the place cards were miniature ships.

The fourth annual reunion of the Barthelmas-Wardell families was held at the Stoutsville camp ground Sunday, September 4. At noon 76 members and guests partook of a bounteous dinner served in the large dining room on the camp ground. After dinner a business meeting was held and the following officers elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Jack Wardell; vice president, Thomas Wardell Sr.; secretary-treasurer, Bertha M. Kimmel. A splendid talk was given by George Troutman on the sights and experiences on his trip abroad. A very interesting talk was given by Rev. J. Barthelmas, after which we all adjourned to meet again on the first Sunday in September, 1928.

At their beautiful country home, the venerable Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Newton of near Circleville, Sunday, September 4, were hosts to a large number of folks that marked the gathering of four generations. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Newton, of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Newton, of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. May of East Ringgold; Mr. and Mrs. Lyle B. Guilkey and family, Eleanor, Harold, Paul and David, of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Shaul and family, Richard and June, Louise, of Lansing, Michigan; U. J. Newton, of Circleville; Arthur and Juanita Barr, of East Ringgold. An elaborate dinner was served. Mr. Newton, who is now in his 82d year, enjoys good health, active in farming and loves to relate his experience, of three years in the Civil war and which surrounded with many hardships.

The third annual reunion of the Van fossen family was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Vanfossen of near Amanda Sunday, August 28. Friends and relatives which numbered one hundred and sixty-six gathered early at the home and spent the forenoon renewing old acquaintances. At the noon hour all were seated at the tables on the beautiful lawn and enjoyed a bountiful repast. Those present to enjoy the day were Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Vanfossen and children, Etta, Florence, Ruth, Dana, Wayne and Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Vanfossen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vanfossen and children, Ruth and Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bowers and son, Glenn and Mr. Samuel Shupe of Amanda; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dorsey, Mr. Jacob Lindsey, Mr. and Mrs. Mottis Lindsey and children, Helen, Hilger and Marvene, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Strous and children, Jeanette, Elva and Erma, Mr. and Mrs. John Lively and children, Florence, Freda, Vivian and Homer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lively and children, Charlotte and Paul, Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson and son, Merrill, Harl Lindsey and daughters, Florence and Della, Mrs. Ola Giles and daughters, Betty and Ruth Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Thomas and children, Wayne, Denman, Oakley and William, Mr. and Mrs. Meinhard Thomas and sons, Dwight and Robert Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mahorney and children, Wayne, Melvin, James, Josephine, Fred and Ruth and Mrs. Alice Orr, of Laurelville; Mr. and Mrs. Rancie Poling of near Tarlton; Mr. and Mrs. L.
